

GETTING TO KNOW YOU

WHAT'S YOUR CONSTITUTIONAL MAKEUP?

This inventory of characteristics and imbalances contains the questions from Chapter 8, reorganized into broad categories. Scoring each question and tallying the three answer columns will give you a sense of the proportion of each biopsychotype in your constitutional makeup. The first column of scores represents the Vision/Action biopsychotype; the second column the Nurture/Duty biopsychotype; and the third column Will/Spirit.

Try to be honest with your answers, separating what you would like to be from what you really are. There are no “correct” answers. You might also invite your spouse or a close family member or friend to complete the questionnaire on your behalf, and talk about any differences between your perception of you and theirs. It’s all part of getting to know you.

Place a 2, 5, or 10 in the score column for each item that represents a quality or disturbance you recognize in yourself, even if it is only approximately accurate in its description. If the item does not seem to apply to you, leave the space blank or place a “0” in it. If one part of a two-part question applies to you, give the full score value for the question.

- “2” indicates that you are familiar with this quality in yourself but that it is not present at all times or a predominant part of your makeup.
- “5” indicates that this quality is present much of the time in your makeup and life activities.
- “10” indicates that the quality is strongly characteristic of who you really are, or that it is a predominant part of your makeup.

When you have tallied each column, I recommend that you read the “Lessons From” chapter for your predominant biopsychotype, then the second in line, and finally the third.
